ABOUT THE SCHOLARSHIP

Commencing in 2020, the S.C. International Trade Conference presented a scholarship in honor of Joy Latta, who has served on the Trade Conference Board of Directors for 23 years. Joy retired in 2020 after serving as the Demand Process Manager at Selee Corporation for nearly 33 years in Hendersonville, North Carolina. The Joy Latta Scholarship dedicates funds to those students pursuing education and skills from technical colleges and trade schools.

An applicant must be currently enrolled in an accredited Trade or Technical School with a minimum 3.0 overall GPA. Applicants must also be: (1) a S.C. resident attending any trade school or technical college, or (2) attending any South Carolina trade school or technical college regardless of residency, and (3) focus of study in International Trade, Supply Chain Management or relevant skilled trade.

The selection and ranking criteria, in order of importance, are:

- Proven interest or experience in International Trade, Supply Chain Management or Business-related area, to include work or volunteer experience;
- Current academic standing and performance minimum overall 3.0 GPA
- Narrative and letter of recommendation; and
- Honors and extracurricular activities.

Beyond this scholarship offer, students are also invited to attend the Conference's daily business sessions at no charge. These sessions are planned to be held at Wild Dunes Resort on Isle of Palms, SC. Each session will be led by professionals who are confronted daily by a variety of international trade and logistics issues. The program agenda and other information can be found at: <http://www.scitc.org>. If you are interested in attending, please contact the SCITC Scholarship chairperson at scholarships@scitc.org.
